

Better Blood

the story of how enough better blood was produced that the world if it didn't kill each other wouldn't have to worry about dying a world where we had clear blood that wasn't water and we just lived forever and took having kids really seriously and identified the root cause of all our problems which is we're all going to die

The guy that designed the secret recipe of the better blood was an OG PYRU BLOOD that had the internet and he studied at MIT HARVARD BERKLEY STANFORD YALE AND BROWN and he got to the point where once he received his PHD from the University of the Peoples in a degree track he designed himself he was at a level in his home town publishing papers at the local ameristop where he just put a sign out front that said STAND HERE AT NOON IF YOU WANT TO FUCK and he just walked outside and picked up chicks to bring home to fuck he was the local university graduate

it's a hard game to play it's called put up or shut up ... i just got introduced to it recently when i released <https://slushpile.github.io> and i can release a track for the rest of my life like i CAN this just in work on ONE track for my entire life that's hella elegant when you're not planning on getting high but the weed find you this ain typical writing this on JERRELL SIMPSON REGULAR off his own plant i hear and you want to know the guy or be the guy that has a seed a plot of land and some patience like that seed vault we should probably just go ahead and plant those seeds like we need to keep building seed vaults and yeah <https://slushpile.github.io> i nominate GITHUB.com to join the ranks of the library of congress and this has been live on CONGRESSIONAL RHETORIC white supremacy is waged in a french coffee shop with espresso machines nearby by marzzocco it's not white supremacy has nothing to do with guns and the civil war like there's an angle on history that a history book is written like a darwin award book like the darwin award is an award you get for a creative unique way you died like the history book is filled with darwin awards like pretty much everything you're not supposed to do is in a history book for the most part i'd say we probably came up with like one THING that might not be to the detriment of our survival but for the most part and i heard it was a show but marconi was deeply involved in a story with new york city and just like cincinnati the headquarters for incoming MLB funding like cincinnati is by right of legal writ which is a cold phrase because i wrote it cincinnati is the capital fund for Major League Baseball just like new york city is the capital fund for radio and television and i think computing like there are like 72 things and there are 80 cities and i think since you the capital since you put in the most work even if it is a show it's your equipment like another city CAN do it too but you're doing it and you started that that's your family lineage your passing down of your way that became when the tool was rolled out like AND i heard and think television is a great idea for world peace i think the idea of television as an industry is a viable world peace alternative to the military dominated predecessor ethos this might ease labor union disputes but if you let delivery and freight get there eventually like they quote 2 and 7 days at amazon and they could quote 20 and 70 days to receive your package like we may be too stressed out because freight over worked like if FEDEX and UPS and USPS are working too hard that's going to fuck up an entire grid

i think in terms of foreign currency exchange that the world markets would benefit from going to a strictly cash based economy i think a lot of our ceremonies are deeply integrated with hand to hand business and cash is a hand to hand business tool and i think the little side lets where you it's hard to give a stranger a dollar when all your money on a debit card and i could that's true i could go to the bank to get my cash so that i have cash but that i have the option to not use cash causes me to use my debit card and i have a pretty picture in my head of a world economy that is only cash based and the cash can be really holographic or futuristic looking and just the experience of giving someone a brief case full of cash and the ceremony associated with that is worth the transition to an entirely cash based economy i theorize a cash based economy is the healthiest one this fight club scene could be something like the ads are paying you to do what they want and you can sell art in the content i was thinking what if you sold art in the content? like you could have this fight club like technology and have a painting you had on your wall on sale on your website you could do more sales if there was an art auction on television meh just killing time but it could be just advertising either services or products

I'm sorry for writing you last night. I'm the typical mentally ill self important psych patient that has a University Degree in English Literature and traveled to Europe 3 times and have a performance poetry career. I'm unique. I just feel like they make it so easy to write the white house it's like they want people to write them. I don't know I got high last night and was filled with inspiration and I just went over some notes and I had a typo in a bad place. I'm sorry. I write my representative , my senator, my governor, and i write the white house like thats the chain of command to me. I should probably branch out and write other agencies. If it means anything i'm doing the work i can do with this set up to get a sign on a bridge to advertise an e commerce store that sells local culture to raise money for the fixing of the bridge or the building of a new one. Like you're my boss. I have the internet without the internet i would never send you a letter but when it's so convenient i figure why not.

white supremacy only works among supreme whites supreme whites can discuss white supremacy like if you're a gun toting deer hunting truck driving beer chugging jesus freak from the midwest you might not be a good representative of white values like the highest order of european ethics determines white supremacy like if the european nation is truly superior then white supremacy makes sense and even then it's just a need for an acknowledgement like okay europeans are superior people lets move on like my brand of white supremacy that is in reaction to ABC and the news media is that there is nothing wrong with a room full of white people discussing high minded values like elitism and intellactualism like your university student is a better white supremacist than the high school drop out with the deer antlers afixed to front of his pick up truck i'm just saying the people that get the most credit for the white supremacy are typically the least capable of selling people on white supremacy like david muir is a good candidate for a white supremacist like superior white people and to boot i have the aryan nation down as the finest specimens of race the world over like if you're in the aryan race you're in the finest society the world has ever seen every day as i take these misanthropic terms and give them new meaning because it's a clever debate style redefine the terms of the debate and in the process defeat ignorance ... i'm a white supremacist of the aryan race because i have a university degree and my purpose is to be a good employee and levy legit consultations ... i'm out on a limb here but i think refurbishing controversial terms into better definitions that are politically correct is a legit way to denounce pro violence sects of society ... like ignorance is a fan of certain ideas well let them be a fan of someone like me that knows what they are talking about

Like in my twenties i KNEW black people were superior to white people and then i spent 10 years living with them and decided i might be wrong like through life experience i became a white supremacist like just after all the free loading like i'd say i'm a biased opinion but it's an informed bias like just ghetto people like i get an apartment and they need to move in like fuck like you've got a great resume get a job like just guns and drugs and sex and shows and then i turned on television 2 years ago and was inundated with a racial message that is mostly waged in staging techniques like if you force the issue of race i'm like yes white people i figured out what i do last month i write food i create food in writing like last night and then today i developed an entree of dishes for you like with my experience i can develop food just rhetoric that stimulates the mind and and gives you something to think about like a magazine used to like just food i write food theres another word for it i had it last night but i can't think of it like there is an academic term for food i just well until i remember it this is food

i gave barrack obama the best desktop computer as a gift when he left office it had gold wires and 8TB memory in the hard drive and a leading edge pentium chip so that he could use it to write federal documents on this is sort of how i gave it to him i started my career off tweeting the white house with barrack obama and then i continued on during the trump administration and now that donald trump is parting ways i thought of a gift for him ... the set of the west wing like he should get a flawlessly replica white house to live in during his retirement years like the way they model the white house perfectly for television shows he should get one of those sets i'll give that to him what do you get the man that has everything you get him something fantastic as a back up gift i can give him condolences for having to put up with this shit they asked him if he wanted to be president and he said he didn't know and they were like COME ON MAN ITS YOUR TIME like this is bullshit he did it as a favor like i can give him that too

i go by potpourri in the hood ... that's what they call me because i keep giving off these flavors that no one ever thought they needed til they ran into my steelo like people that saw the block as the block for years saw the block for the first time because of my writing i never had a black dentist but i thought of a ghetto dentist that's a guy you go in to see who will brush your teeth for you for like $8 with or without toothpaste ... like you CAN cut your own hair but you have someone else do it and you CAN have someone brush your teeth for you like something gangster like the first shop people walking by watching someone brush someone else's teeth that that's my most ghetto business thought i haven't thought of that in years and he flosses your teeth too for $6 and that's ghetto business to me but there might be something special about it like be a place you could just hang out talk shit watch the game on the television while someone is getting their gloss and floss and like i don't know i'm fascinated by it because it's something a barber COULD do that they're not doing like brushing the teeth might be so new an activity like the computer so new it doesn't exist yet but brushing teeth so new it might have a chance to make it into the barber shop i was just writing about a back up dancer with a name like DYTTO like <https://youtu.be/jNGL3QbezU> I like to see kids having fun like they get a little older and it gets more serious but to see some kids having fun is cool to me ...

something else i didn't know to spend my time doing like i throw up gang signs i practice throwing up gangs signs i don't finger tut but maybe the last art form in performance was finger tutting ...

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=A0Bs8-B-pmI>

what will be next?

this chick seems like she needs some scouting so if you know someone let em know you know about her too like i don't mind working for theatre like if i see something let someone know like i'm probably the last to know about her but did you know about this?

i don't mind watching older women for lust and i don't mind watching younger women to remember

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=k5fJmkv02is>

just remember facebook was the work of a wunderkind at one point like he was a media darling and now you have him in for monopolistic practices and there is no hurdle to me starting or working on or building <https://slushpile.github.io> like ted cruz can get to work competing with facebook in notepad on his 20 year old computer if it bothers him enough like there are no raw materials involved in facebook it's a matter of did you buy a reference book READ IT and start coding i taught myself how to code and i have an english literature degree and an art background with no math if there was a company that controlled every salt mine that would be a monopoly but there are millions of computers competition to facebook can arise anywhere just saying ... i doubt your position on the monopolistic status of facebook and he was given a unique situation i don't think you have

this is fun

i developed a nut of pseudo code that was like

ON

1 SECOND WEST

1 SECOND NORTH

1 SECOND EAST

1 SECOND SOUTH

and it's a time based computer programming language like if you have a clock you have a processor is my theory

i only ever did that much but

you're right i could do more on this but how could a timeline serve as the basis for a processor?

i had it in my head that you could get really advanced and draw typography with time based processing i'm banned from facebook and baned from twitter this month for some writing that i did i get dinged a lot on facebook and twitter and i'm waiting for permanent bans because the internet is far nicer than what facebook or twitter would serve you but my patronage is FACEBOOK then TWITTER then YOUTUBE and if i can find a way out of it because my intellect it's such a confusing psychological issue why do i feel the need to use their software? i'm on CONTENT MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS REGULARLY writing and i could be writing a book but i have a complex psychological issue tied into CMS's online the major ones and i'm probably patronizing too hard because life off facebook is so nice and it's such a war on facebook in the news sector and if i could just beyond my control like it should be a feature you should be able to lock yourself out of CMS's in sum total without hope of getting back on like in a moment make a good decision that you live with for the rest of your life i don't want to use facebook i want a reason to do something else but i'm sucked into Jack Dorsey and Mark Zuckerbergs world and i'm on disability so i have all this time and i just go to war on facebook i just war out like fighting racism against white people i'm like that's all i see and it's like ABC is the lead producer of content that is anti white people and they're owned by DISNEY and i don't think that's fair like nothing i just nothing i'm one of the few people that would feel superior ground to discuss him much other than how to integrate his product into schools great now i'm addicted to this starting today and in my past i have left copious messages nothing i just i'm addicted to computing and writing and you caught my eye today and i have this robust telepathic connection to something that reads my writing and gives me commentary feedback and i live in a GE Headquarters City and an Engineering Department that is robust at UC and i don't know i feel singled out like i'm putting on a show for my brain

<https://slushpile.github.io> is my website it's 6 months old and it's an art project it's presence online is a commentary on the overabundance of css and the inability for the average website owner to make changes to their website because of their total ignorance of web languages and by just knowing HTML a website owner could take better control of their website and if they knew CERN the developer of the internet intended HTML to be an all encompassing language to meet all needs for all purposes coupled with email they would upon study of my website come to understand that they can save money on their website gain control of their website and be better able to conduct business with their website ... that's my artistic statement on slushpile.github.io ... someone asked me what a billion dollar business was if i was so smart and was a university graduate and i thought about it and saw an image of teaching HTML nationwide starting with local school districts to me the effect of that procedure would be worth a billion dollars the transformative effects of it ... so <https://slushpile.github.io> is my website and it's not like facebook that's my angle it's not like facebook at all and just as much work goes into it ... like a website with 44,000 people working on content as opposed to content management would be ideal ...
